

Open colloquium: Unemployment – new and old questions

Increasing instability in the labour market has – once again – evoked interest in unemployment as a research topic. In fact, unemployment integrates numerous problems of contemporary wage labour-based societies. The spectrum reaches from the globalization of the labour force to the new forms of activation.

Work Research Centre (University of Tampere) organises an open colloquium regarding the current challenges of unemployment research

Time: Wednesday, April 22, at 13.00–16.00

Location: Room 5016, Linna (Kalevantie 5)

Programme:

Simo Aho (researcher, WRC):

What can be achieved with active labour market policy?

Oxana Krutova (researcher, YKY):

Migrants and unemployment in the Finnish context

Olli Karsio (researcher, YKY)

Nine local workfare pilots in Finland?

Lisa Adkins (Professor, FiDiPro)

Assembling Unemployment

For more information, please contact:

Docent Antti Saloniemi

antti.saloniemi@uta.fi, 050 462 7394